Further, the Directive requires the Department of Commerce to promulgate a Federal standard for secure and reliable forms of identification within six months of the date of the Directive. As a result, the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) released Federal Information Processing Standard (FIPS) 201: Personal Identity Verification of Federal Employees and Contractors on February 25, 2005. The Federal Government has established derived test requirements for demonstrating conformance with the Standard. Providers whose products and services are deemed to be conformant will be eligible to participate in this program.
